- Anti-Communist guerrillas are reportedly active in the Sernena Gora (a range of mountains) north of Stara Zagora; in the Borisovgrad region; in Chirpan and on Sakar Planina between Harmanli and Svilengrad. The guerrillas are especially active in the last named area.
- 2. Supplies for the guerrillas are generally provided by attacks against villages. Such an attack was recently made against three villages in the Harmanli region: Malko Ezeli (sic), Golyamo Ezeli (sic), and Molinovo (sic).
- 3. The arms of the guerrillas for the most part come from deserters of the Bulgarian Army who flee to the mountains carrying their weapons.
